BEACH WILL GO ON TRIAL THIS WEEK
Must Answer Charge of Assaulting Wife With Intent to Kill.

Alison S. C. February 2.—Frederick O.
Beach, the New York millionaire, will be placed on trial here in the Court of General Sessions Tuesday, charged with assaulting his wife with intent to kill.
The hearing Tuesday is the sequel to a murderous attack on Mrs. Beach, which took place at the hands of her husband February 25, 1912. In addition to being beaten, the millionaire's wife sustained serious cuts on the throat.

Immediately after the assault it was announced that Mrs. Beach had been attacked by a negro. It was stated that she was in the act of taking a note from a negro, when he delivered her a blow on the head. The negro was immediately arrested and is now in the city jail.
Great excitement followed the announcement and rewards aggregating several hundred dollars were offered for the apprehension of her mysterious assailant.
Detectives were put on the case and confidential work was done in the winter colony here as well as in New York City by the issuance of a warrant against the negro.
O. Beach, charged him with the attack.
Mr. and Mrs. Beach sailed for Europe, and bonds for the release of the former were made here by wealthy friends. Some expressed the opinion that Mrs. Beach never would return to the United States, but however, was ended last week by the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Beach, accompanied by J. B. Taylor, New York City, sister of Mrs. Beach, and counsel.

Pearl Hampton, a negro woman, who is suspected of the attack on Mrs. Beach, and a detective employed by the town of Alton to investigate the case, both will be in the city to-morrow. It is understood that Mrs. Beach will take the stand and will reiterate the story of the attack made public just after she was injured.

SHORTAGE ALLEGED.

Carthage, N. C., February 2.—Glenn H. Keith, assistant postmaster at Taylor, Moore County, was tried here yesterday before Commissioner Copeland for an alleged shortage of $1,500 in the monthly order of the office, and was bound over under bond for his appearance at the May term of the Federal court in Raleigh.

COTTON GOODS REVIEW
New York, February 2.—The cotton goods markets were stronger and more active than they have been for some time. Full River sold 500,000 pieces of print cloths and convertibles, and activity in this market reached substantially as large a total.
The selling was more active than in many weeks, and contracts have been extended to run through April and in some instances through the balance of the cotton year.

There was more business done in the very fine plain cotton goods. Business on napped cottons, such as blankets, Canton flannel, etc., has been extended to the conclusion of fall and the leading lines have been sold up and withdrawn. Trading in heavy domestics of a staple character has not been active.

The mills are short of operatives, and the limited production is a factor of importance in the maintenance of prices. Buyers of cotton goods have been anticipating lower prices because of the lower range of cotton values, but sellers have been declaring that their mills are unable to secure any lower prices for desirable grade of cotton, so that there is a firm disposition among spinners to hold to the current level. Prices are as follows on cloths: print cloths, 25-inch, 64x64, 4 cents; 44x66, 3 7-8 cents; 35 1-2-inch, 64x66, 2 1-4 cents; standard southern sheetings, 8 cents; denim, 8-ounce, 14 cents; tickings, 8-ounce, 15 3-4 cents; standard prints, 5 1-2 cents; staple ginghams, 6 3-4 cents; dress ginghams, 9 1-4 cents.

Big Parcel Post Business.
Lynchburg, Va., February 2.—The business of the Lynchburg post-office during the first month of the parcel post system amounted to approximately 17,000 packages, of which 10,000 were dispatched from this office. The additional business for the month of January, the average cost of delivery being 1 1-2 cents per package, while the average postage was 12 cents.

SWINDLING CHARGE AGAINST EX-PRINCE

He Lost All Status in Consequence of Extremely Unsavory Scrapes.

ONLY last week Prince and Princess William of Saxe-Weimar were indignantly denying the reported engagement of their only daughter, Princess Sophia, to young Hans von Heidegger, his nephew, of the great Berlin Hebrew banking house of that name, which repeatedly placed its financial resources at the disposal of Prince Bismarck when he was unable to obtain the necessary supplies from the Prussian and North German governments.

Now comes the cabled news from Vienna to the effect that a criminal warrant has been issued by the Austrian government for the arrest of Princess Sophia's oldest brother, Hermann, on several charges of extremely contemptible swindles.

He no longer ranks as a prince of the blood. For three years ago he was compelled to surrender his status and privileges as such, his commission in the German army and all his rights of succession to the grand-duchess of Saxe-Weimar—he was at the time the heir presumptive to the crown—in consequence of the extremely unsavory scrapes in which he had at the time become involved.

As Prince Hermann of Saxe-Weimar sought and might have obtained the hand of Princess Bonaparte, the daughter of Napoleon's nephew (at Monte Carlo), had it not been for his extremely unsavory reputation. Understandably, his father, the grand-duke, never even the prospect of her eventually becoming sovereign Crown Princess of Saxe-Weimar could induce him to sacrifice her happiness to a man of such evil reputation, and she married instead Prince George of Denmark.

Prince Hermann of Saxe-Weimar had obtained a considerable amount of money on the strength of his projected marriage with Marie Bonaparte, and when the matter fell through the crash came. He was thereupon reduced to the rank of an ordinary citizen, under the name of Count Ostheim, and married some months later in London an Italian stage favorite, the actress, Madame Lottner, who has been a frequent visitor to America. He was subsequently di-cast from the position of grand-duke of non-support, cruelty and infidelity, the evidence going to show that he had depended upon her entirely for his support. Later on he was gassetted as insolvent by the London courts, and since he did not put in an appearance, as an absconding bankrupt, Now comes the announcement of the issue of Austrian criminal warrants against him for fraud, and for scrapes against a man of royal birth belonging to one of the oldest reigning dynasties of Europe, and who until 1909 had every prospect of occupying a throne.

The trouble is that the young prince has been a frequent visitor to America, and although his commission as a major out of the list of the German army has been restored to him, is boycotted by the various courts of Europe, and is forced by the headquarters of the reigning Grand-Duke of Saxe-Weimar, to live outside his dominions.

Prince William in his younger days was a frequent visitor to America, and he was obliged to leave Europe, served for some years, first in the Foreign Legion, and then in the Imperial German army, and finally making his way to this country, where, under the name of William Rohde, he lived the life of a remittance man, always forestalling his meagre allowances from home, and being compelled in consequence there-

HOME FOR DEPENDENT WIDOWS OF VETERANS

Provided For in Measure Before North Carolina Legislature, Which Seems Sure of Passage.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Rocky Mount, N. C., February 2.—Rocky Mount is peculiarly interested in the action taken on Friday by the joint committee of the House and Senate of the State Legislature in voting unanimously to report favorably a bill appropriating the sum of $10-000 for the erection of a home for the dependent widows of Confederate veterans, and $5,000 annually for its support. That the bill will pass both houses of the Legislature seems assured.

The bill, which gives official recognition of the great part played in the war by the women of the State, and which is to give a home for the needy ones along the same line as already provided for the veterans, was introduced by State Senator T. T. Thorne, of Rocky Mount, and the favorable action taken by the joint committee is largely due to his work for the measure. Assisting him in urging the measure is the fact that the committee was Mrs. M.
Whitstead, of Rocky Mount, together with a number of daughters of the Confederacy from other places.

Already four cities are preparing to offer special inducements for the location of the home within their borders. Rocky Mount Payetteville, Durham and Charlotte. Rocky Mount is preparing to make a strong bid for the location here, and the other three cities will offer an ideal site, together with a generous cash bonus, and the withstanding of the committee with the united support of the citizens generally, will make a strong effort for this city.
